

People's Collection Wales is a website dedicated to discovering the story of Wales and its people. A dynamic and bilingual experience, the People's Collection Wales website is full of fascinating photographs, documents, stories and videos detailing the history and heritage of Wales.

People's Collection Wales is a place to discover, learn, contribute and share your story of Wales with the world – and it's free to use!

People's Collection Wales is funded by the Welsh Government and is led by a federated partnership consisting of three national heritage bodies – Amgueddfa Cymru – National Museum Wales, the National Library of Wales and the Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Wales.

The People's Collection Wales website is supported by a programme of activities that explore new ways of collecting, discovering and sharing the stories of Wales and its people.

The website currently features thousands of items and has recently been re-launched with an improved user experience in mind.

A photograph of a Welsh regiment during WW1 with 'Cymru am Byth' painted on the door behind them – Ceredigion Archives

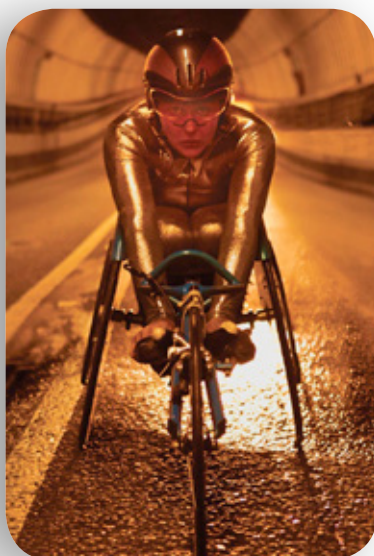

Bottle label from Llandudno based drinks manufacturer, T.O. Owen and Son, established in 1873 – copyright Conwy Archive Service

People's Collection Wales allows you to search content housed in our online collection and, more importantly, contribute material to create your own digital story. Everyone has some piece of the jigsaw that tells the story of Wales, be it a memory, a letter or an old photograph. Items such as these are often forgotten, lost or discarded. Sharing them with People's Collection Wales helps to enrich Wales' cultural heritage and ensures that it is preserved for future generations.

Miner washing at home in a tin bath – copyright National Museum Wales

Treorchy Male Choir drink with Tom Jones 1969 copyright Treorchy Male Choir

Tanni Grey-Thompson
copyright
Following the Flame

